

| Question | Answer          | Mark | Mark scheme                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Additional guidance                                                                          |
|----------|-----------------|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 4 (a)    | 19              | P1   | for process to find area available at festival B,eg $700 \times 2000$ (=1 400 000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Accept either number rounded eg 207 or 188Accept either number rounded eg 207 or 188 |
|          |                 | P1   | for process to find the area available per person at one festival,eg $80\,000 \div 425$ (= 188.23...) or [area] $\div 6750$ (= 207.40...)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                              |
|          |                 | P1   | for process to find the area available per person at both festivals,eg $80\,000 \div 425$ (= 188.23...) and [area] $\div 6750$ (= 207.40...)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                              |
|          |                 | A1   | for an answer in the range 18.7 to 19.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                              |
|          | (b) explanation | C1   | for a valid statement relating to scale factor for area,Acceptable examplesThere are 10000 (cm <sup>2</sup> ) in 1 (m <sup>2</sup> )Because 1 m <sup>2</sup> is the same as $100 \times 100 = 10000$ cm <sup>2</sup>There are 2 side lengths that change from 1 m to 100 cm$300 \div 3$ is 100 should use $100^2$$300 \div 100 \div 100 = 0.03$$3 \times 100 \times 100 = 30000$Because it's area not length.Because it's in m <sup>2</sup> not just metresHe hasn't taken the squared sign into accountNot acceptable examplesThere are 1000 cm in 1 mCallum is correct because .....$300 \div 3$ is 100$3^2 = 9$$300 \times 300 = 90000$You have to square the number |                                                                                              |