

Question	Answer	Mark	Mark scheme
12 (a)	No with reason	C1	No with reason Acceptable examples It's 10% of the original price, not 10% of 440 He found the percentage of the new amount not the original amount He found 10% of the increased value The original price is £400 100% is £400 / 100% is not £440 / 110% is £440 10% is £40 / 10% is not £44 / 11% is £44 99% is 396 10% of 396 is 39.6(0) 110% of 396 is 435.6(0) He should have divided by 1.1 Not acceptable examples No, 440 minus 10% is not 396 100% is not £396 £440 is the price after the increase / The original price is not £440 He has to find 90% of 440 He has to find 110% of 440 It should be £484 Jim is correct / Yes

Question	Answer	Mark	Mark scheme	Additional guidance
(b)	160	P1 for process to find the number sold in November, eg $180 \div 150 \times 100$ or $180 \div 1.5 (= 120)$ oe or for $0.75 \times 1.5 (= 1.125)$ oe or for $75 \times 1.5 (= 112.5)$ oe P1 for a process to find the number sold in October, eg “120” $\div 75 \times 100$ oe eg “120” $\div 0.75$ or $180 \div \text{“1.125”}$ oe eg $180 \div \text{“112.5”} \times 100$ or [value] $\div 0.75$ oe A1 cao		[value] can be any value they believe to be the number of bikes sold in November or 180